New Smith
Dean H. Byrd (1988)

Area: 745 square miles
Population (1998): 61,560
County seat: Dallas, Population: 11,360
County established: 22 December 1845

Polk County in the Willamette Valley received American settlers looking for farmlands as early as 1842. After the usual family burials the earliest organized public cemetery was the Pioneer Cemetery at Rickreall (1845). It was followed by cemeteries at Dallas (1847), English and Hart-Riggs (1848), Hilltop (1849) and Salt Creek (1851). By the mid-1850's there were a considerable number of public cemeteries. There is also a sizable Indian cemetery: Consolidated Tribes of Grand Ronde.

There are no signboards to guide the visitor and it is especially difficult to tell where English Cemetery ends and New Smith Cemetery begins.
