Population (1998): 24,829
County seat: La Grande, Population: 12,415
County established: 14 October 1864

The Oregon Trail passed through the Grande Ronde River Valley in what became Union County. Explorers and fur traders passed through and in 1842 the first wagon train of settlers came. The earliest organized white cemetery was at the new-founded town of Union in 1862. It was soon followed by a cemetery at La Grande the following year. Settlement in Union County remained closely tied to transit routes after the railways arrived in the mid-1880's.
