Sea Captain Lyons donated 2 acres for this cemetery and 1-1/2 acres nearby for a church.

Geer Pioneer

Is located near the base of Ladd Hill where the road turns from the Oregon City-Wilsonville-Newberg road. There are said to be about 15 graves here but the ravages of time and the encroachment of vines and trees leave only this much legible:

Mary Geer 1797-1847

NS

Joseph C. Geer USP (B.1795 d. 1881)
1812

No one available has been able to interpret the letters and figures after Mr. Geer's name. This small cemetery is badly in need of attention.

Eilers Peak

Is located not far from Carver. There are 4 graves here thought to be all Eilers. The graves are marked by stones from a nearby quarry. Attention and better identification are urgently needed.

Smith Place

Is located about 1 mile north and 1 mile west of Eagle Creek. Was first used about 1866. Buried here:

Edmund B. Walkley (d. 1866)	Col. Eggers (d. 1872)
Rachel H. Lake (1838-1876)	James A. Eggers (d. 1873)

This plot is no longer used and is in bad condition.

On the Suter place not far from here are two unknown graves believed to contain members of the first wagons to come over the old Oregon Trail.

Redland

Located in T 3 S R 3 E Sec. 17. It is ten miles from Oregon City at the junction of the Abernethy and Lyons roads. It was formally established in 1899 though previously used and it is still used. The first trustees were J. G. Fullam, John Richardson and George Hickenbotham with Louis Funk as secretary. Mr. Funk is now the only survivor of this board. (1955)

Condition is good.

St. Johns Catholic

Is located in T 3 S R 2 E Sec. 5. It is 2 miles from Oregon City and 3 blocks west of Molalla Avenue. It was established in 1887 and is still used. It contains about 900 graves of which about 200 are unmarked and there may be a number whose location is lost. An association was formed in 1951 to maintain and improve this cemetery. Since then much has been done such as bringing in water, bettering the road, clearing fence rows, removing high curbs and purchasing additional land.

Summit Meadows

This burial plot of four or five graves is on or near the site of a cabin and trading post built in 1868 by Perry Vickers. It is about one and one-half miles from Government Camp. One grave (1882) is that of an infant son of W. and L. Barclay. Another is that of Perry Vickers, builder of the cabin and trading post. He was mortally wounded by a bandit whom he and others were pursuing near the White River crossing in 1882. It is legend that he often helped "movers" without charge.

Deardorf

Is located near the Sunnyside road 5 or 6 miles east of Milwaukie. Maintenance is much needed. Names of others than the following buried here are not available.

William Willis Cooke 1818-1875
