FOREWORD

The 1870 Polk county, Oregon, census contains approximately 4700 individual names. It represents the beginning of the second major stage of county growth. This is the period when most of the cultivatable land had been settled and the county was beginning to raise wheat as a major cash crop. It also represents the second generation of pioneers, many of the children of original settlers have started families in this census.

Special recognition should go to Tom Branigar who copied the original from the National Archives microfilm. Tom gave his typescript copy to the Polk County Historical Society who in turn provided it to the Polk County Museum Commission. The Museum Commission desired that this be made available to genealogical and historical researchers but did not feel that it could undertake such a project alone. It then contacted the Willamette Valley Genealogical Society for assistance. The publications committee of that society especially Jean Custer who prepared the final typescript, are responsible for the actual publication.

CAUTION: This is the best efforts of several individuals if YOU have any doubts about names or spelling we urge you to consult the original microfilm. We also note that certain data is omitted due to space considerations, real estate values, foreign born parents etc..
