There was a large number of Chinese living in Grant County in 1880. The following are page numbers which have Chinese residents listed. Note that the names were spelled according to how they sounded to the person who was recording them, and apparently the same names sounded differently to different writers. Also, note the Americanism given to some of the workers.

There was approximately 4,600 people in the county in 1880 with 900-950 of them Chinese.

With the exception of the illfated Meek wagon train which came through Grant and Harney Counties about 1845 when they were seeking a "Short Cut" to western Oregon, there seems to be no record of any white men in this area until June of 1862 when gold seekers from California passed through on their way towards the Powder River and happened to find gold in Canyon Creek. Thus began the history of the county for the white man. Indians had roamed the hills and valleys for a long time for the Piutes were known to summer graze in Logan Valley, and an abundance of obsidian arrow and spear heads have been found through the county. This means that for the genealogist:1-there was no 1860 or earlier census. The territory was part of Wasco county. In 1864 when it became Grant County, it stretched from Umatilla County's border south to the California line, east to Baker (and Malheur), and west to at least the present site of Mitchell in Wheeler county.

The 1870 census has been read and published by Mrs. Nelly Hidey. In it Grant and Harney are together (Harney formed 1889), Malheur is still part of Baker County, Union covered the northeast area, and Umatilla lay north of Grant County.

The 1880 census has been given herein, and covers to Mitchell in Wheeler county, and all of Harney county, also. It is evident that the gold mining is still a big industry for there is a large number of the Chinese laborers still in the county. When the mining ceased most of these people went back to China. It is said that they even took the bones of those who had died back to bury them again in China. They had not come as families and only a few females are listed in residence.

The Canyon City mines yielded 26,000,000 in gold in the high period and drew people from every part of the nation, as well as many Europeans. Quite a number of people came from the Azores Islands in the Mediterranean.

Since there is no 1890 census for the nation, and Grant County birth and death records started in 1915, there is a big gap in records available, and many came and left the county without leaving a trace.

In reading through the collection of old newspapers at the Grant Co. Library the following was one of a number of articles found.-J.M.S.

SOME PIONEER HISTORY

OLIVER PEONE FINDS COPY OF FIRST CANYON CITY PAPER

OLD TOOL CHEST GIVES UP RELICT OF BY-GONE DAYS

First Mining Claim Was Opened Up On Little Pine Creek And The Second On Whiskey Flat, Just South Of Town

The following article on the history of Grant County was taken from the CITY JOURNAL published at Canyon City Nov. 9, 1868. A faded copy of the paper was found in an old tool chest by Oliver Peone and brought to this office. The issue is the first printed here and needless to say is yellow with age and yet in perfect state of preservation. The article taken from this relic of the early days of mining on Canyon Creek is as follows:

Grant County, Oregon embraced all the headwaters of the John Day, Burnt, Malheur, Silvies, and Crooked Rivers, with the John Day and Harney valleys included, in which are the John Day, Olive, Elk, Dixie, Granite and Burnt River mining districts.

That portion known as the Canyon Creek or John Day mining district was found to be a good gold field on the 9th of June, 1862, by a company of prospectors from Yreka, on what is now known as Whiskey Flat half a mile above Canyon City. On the same day gold was discovered on Little Pine Creek, two miles east, and on the following day good prospects were found on rich and windless gulches, opening one of the most extensive and richest mining camps in eastern Oregon. The parties who struck the diggings, being out of the necessities of life, went to Auburn where they reported their discovery of new diggings, which caused a rush of about 500 persons to this place, and they meeting the gold seekers from California to Powder River, made within ten days of the discovery of gold a population of over 1,000 miners. But the claims on the creek being deep with a great deal of water to contend with, and the gulches in which prospects were first found being dry gulches, the most of those who first discovered the place left without receiving any of the benefits derived therefrom.

Canyon Creek took it's name from a canyon through which it flows, in a northerly direction into the John Day river; and this city took it's name from the above named creek on which it is located a short distance below the mouth of the canyon and two miles above it's confluence with the John Day river; and was laid out by Messrs Mulkey, Cooper, and others on the twentieth of July 1862.

The first building was the Express Office of Brents and Nelson, put up about the 4th of July 1862. A whiskey shop was started on Whiskey Flat on the 15th of June, in a tent; and about the 20th, Powers, Shumann, and Wadleigh came in from Yreka with a pack train loaded with whickey, tobacco and groceries. In a short time after Cozart, Luce, and Stone arrived from The Dalles with a pack train loaded with groceries and provisions and started the first store in our city in a canvas house. The first restaurant was opened by Mrs. Coopers; and, during July and August of the same year, several new stores and some ten or twelve saloons commenced operations.

The first claims opened were on Little Pine Creek; the second near Whiskey Flat, both of which were worked with rockers. In August, Brown and company built a small sawmill on Pine Creek which proved a failure; most of the lumber used was cut by whipsawers. The Humbolt company was the first to use sluices to which they attached a long-tom, in Juniper Gulch. The first ditch was the Bissell Creek ditch dug to convey the waters of Bissell and Pine Creek to Rich Gulch on which gulch the town of Marysville was built on July and August 1862. The first claims opened on Canyon Creek were the Trenton and Richardson, in the fall of 1862.

and the Never Sweat early in the spring of 1862, all of which proved rich.

The first death was a man whose name has escaped our memory, on Pine Creek, who died of consumption; the second James K. Knox killed by W. Blevins on the 23rd of November 1862 at which time our too well filled graveyard was picked out and dedicated. A Berry Wey was the first man hung which took place on June 4, 1863 after a jury trial by the miners, for the murder of J. Gallaher, near Antelope Valley on The Dalles trail.

Trowbridge and company located the first ranch on the 16th of July 1862 and is still owned by a part of the same firm, and is situated opposite the mouth of the creek on John Day valley.

The Dalles road was opened early in 1864, previous to which time all supplies were transported by pack train.

About the first of July 1862 there arrived from California a train consisting of 32 wagons, 105 men, 14 women, and several children, which added to the permanent population of the district. Many that came at that time are still to be seen on our streets.

The first persons joined together in the holy bonds of wedlock were Mr. Jas. Adams to Miss Jennette Hunter.

BLUE MOUNTAIN EAGLE June 9, 1916 From an Address of A.D. Leedy at Mt. Vernon Springs:

COUNTY'S HISTORY TOLD

No one thought of permanently remaining here. It was thought to be too cold. Agriculture was considered out of the question. Provisions of all kinds had to be imported from outside. Freight from The Dalles was 16¢ to 24¢ per pound hence the cost of living was high.

John Herburger raised the first crop of which there is any record, and his was a crop of potatoes, which he offered for sale at 25¢ per lb. He was forced to limit the sale to four pounds to any one man. He'd say that frequently he got a dollar for four potatoes. The success of Mr. Herburger and a few early experimenters encouraged others to try and so agriculture in the John Day Valley got it's start.

B.C. Trowbridge and William Wilson took the first homesteads on the 19th day of July 1862.

----- brought in the first sawmill in the fall of 1862 and set it up on Big Pine Creek. It had a capacity of between 1,000 and 1,500 feet per day. A little later a mill was established on Canyon Creek above Canyon City by a man named Penfield. The first lumber used in the construction of flumes and sluices had to be whipsawed and sold for $300 per thousand.

It is estimated that in the fall of 1862 there were between 4 and 5,000 people in the county. That fall a meeting was held on account of many wishing to return to their homes for supplies and on the further account that they feared the coming winter, and at that meeting it was decided by common consent that all claims should be respected until June 15, 1863.

The first pack train to enter the John Day valley was brought from The Dalles by J.J. Cozart and D.H. Luce. It had started for the Salmon River country but turned aside to Canyon Creek. It arrived sometime in July or August, and from its packs the first two stores in Canyon City obtained their stock of goods, which were duly installed upon shelves sheltered by canvass tents. Later, J.W. Case and a Frenchman named Wadleigh brought in packs of goods.

H.H. Wheeler, for whom Wheeler county is named, came to The Dalles in 1863 with considerable money realized in the lumber business in California. With this capital he established the first mail and stage line from The Dalles to Canyon City. Commencing in 1864, he took the mail contract for four years, at $12,000 per annum. He ran four horse coaches, and had eight changes of horses. The coaches held eleven passengers, and the fare was $40 from The Dalles to Canyon City. Besides,

Mr. Wheeler had a contract to carry all of Wells Fargo and Co. express, mostly gold from the famous Canyon City mines. Mr. Wheeler was wounded in the fall of 1866 by Indians, being shot through the mouth. During the time he operated this stage coach he lost, by being stolen by the Indians 99 head of horses.

Howard Maupin was a pioneer of 1864 and settled in Antelop Valley.

Frank McBean first came to Grant County in 1863. About 1865 he joined the U.S. Troops stationed at Camp Watson. In 1870 Mr. McBean engaged in the mail service of the United States, his first contract being to transport military mail once a week from Canyon City to Fort Harney in which service he gained the distinction of being the first mail carrier to enter what is now Harney county. For four years he filled this service during which time his contract was extended to carrying general mail from Canyon City to Camp McDermitt in Nevada. This service carried him over a route 245 miles in length, in which distance Ft. Harney and Egan near Burns were the only post offices supplied. He carried a camping outfit, and wood, water and grass were the only adjuncts necessary to his stopping places. After leaving Harney and Egan, the only inhabitants passed were the pioneer cabins of Todhunter and Devine at Alvord, and at Camp C.F. Smith.

The first quartz mill was established in the summer of 1867 in connection with J.A. Porter and Co.'s sawmill at Susanville. J.L. Miller was the first manager. It did not prove successful.

The first sheep for breeding purposes were brought in by James Small and John Wolfinger in 1867.

An Act passed by Congress in October 1868 was vastly important in its effect upon the people of Grant County. This was the measure authorizing the construction of The Dalles Military Road which ran up the John Day Valley, across the divide, and down Willow Creek and Malheur River, in Malheur County. By this act the government and the State of Oregon were defrauded of 600,000 acres of land, including large areas of the best range and arable tracts of Grant County. This has worked great hardships to the settlers of Grant County, and it will be many years before the evils resulting from this land steal will disappear.

On the evening of December 18, 1872 there was a slight earthquake in Canyon City and vicinity. A few were badly frightened but no damage whatsoever was done. This is the only earthquake felt in this county of which we have any knowledge.

Even before the advent of schools the influence of the church began to permeate the mining camps and the hastily built settlements. When, where, or by whom the first sermon was preached in Grant County, we do not know. Sanborn and Roy have no record, but one thing is certain, the gold hunter and the Methodist preacher arrived on Canyon Creek just about the same time. The first preachers were men who adapted themselves to their surroundings and worked during the week, preaching on Sunday, thus imitating the example of the great apostle of the Gentiles. The first society was organized at Canyon City in 1874, Rev. A.J. Joslyn pastor. The first M.E. Church built in the county was begun at Canyon City by Rev. G.W. Grannis in November 1876. Since then churches have been erected by various denominations at Long Creek, Monument, John Day, Mt. Vernon, Fox, and Prairie City. The early Methodists did not forget the Sunday School, and Frank I. McCallum, of John Day, has the books of the first School ever held in the John Day valley. Today in all the churches the Sunday School is receiving liberal patronage and attention it so well deserves.

The Act creating Grant County was approved October 14, 1864, and on the seventh of the ensuing month the new political division was duly organized. According to the County Journal, the first officers in charge of the county's affairs were: Judge-Wm. Lair Hill; Clerk-Thomas H. Brents; County Commissioner-Edward S. Penfield and Wm. Luce. A provision of the creating Act made it incumbent upon these to appoint other officers to fill out the quota but this duty was not discharged during the first term. Aside from the routine business of organization, the first official act of the county court was to refuse to P.T. Sharp a license to sell liquors in small quantities, but this action was evidently not construed as a precedent for many licenses were granted later. Indeed, the major portion of the first volume is filled with records of petitions for liquor licenses and the actions of the court upon them.

At a meeting held during the ---- was appointed treasurer; Joseph Tompkins, surveyor; D. Rinehart, Supt. of Schools; and J.W. Bell, Coroner.

The first court house was a building known as "Dunker's Hall". It served as Court House and jail until 1870 when it was destroyed by fire. No abstracts of early elections can be found in the Clerk's office at present, but as far as can be gleaned from the Journal of County Court proceedings, officers elected in June 1866 (that being Grant County's first election) were: County Judge- C.H. Miller; Sheriff-Thomas Howard; Clerk-Thos. H. Brents; Treasurer-F.C. Sels; Commissioners-H.H. Hyde and A.T. Riley; School Supt.-D.B. Rinehart; Surveyor-G.W. Knisely; and Coroner-G.W. Rosencrans.

During the July term of court in the year 1866 J.W. Wood served as commissioner presumably by appointment. Mr. Rinehart resigned his school superintendency in August and Eli Lester was appointed to fill the vacancy at a salary of $200 per annum. From this organization has developed the present political organization of Grant County.

The first step in America's great educational system is the little log school house, the old district school so dear to the heart of the American school boy, which has in many instances laid the foundation for some of the world's most brilliant statesmen, profound scholars, and greatest merchant princes. Within it's rough walls that sturdy spirit of independence and liberty was fostered, it's crude pine tables and benches were incentive to better things and awoke a spirit of ambition that would not down; and the rudimentary principles of education expounded by the zealous and sincere, if not only profound, schoolmaster added the finishing touches to the mold in which has been cast the American citizen- the leader of the race. Hardly does the courageous pioneer penetrate the forest primeval and erect a home before the district school house makes it's appearance and the education of the young is begun. Everywhere the school has followed closely upon the heels of the immigrant and settlement. This being true, it is not strange that the school house early made it's appearance among the pioneer gold seekers of Grant County. The first comers being adventurers without family there was no need for schools, consequently nothing was done in this direction the first year. The following summer, 1863, the first immigrant trains arrived from California, forming the nucleus of a permanent settlement. The county was organized, as I said before, at a session of the Legislature in 1864, and in December 1864 D.B. Rinehart was appointed superintendent of school by the county court. At that time Grant County was considerably larger than the state of Maryland. His first act was to organize the county into three districts, which he did on December 15th as follows: No.1-Canon City; No.2-Marysville; No.3-John Day. On January 2nd, 1865 district No.4-Union District- was organized at the request of several petitioners.

A.J. Adams, Joseph Gilbert, A.R. McCallum (directors) and Noble A. Trowbridge (clerk) comprised the first school officers of the district No.1. Joseph Gillenwater Sr., Samuel Larrison, Joseph Harer (directors) and J.B. Spaulding (clerk) constituted the board of district No.2. And that of district No.3 was composed of A.J. Mulkey, N.W. Fisk, Wilson Harer (directors) and W.F. Vingard (clerk). The records which were unusually well preserved, show that out of 93 children of school age fifteen boys and fourteen girls attended the first school in district No.1 which was held in a rented building. The only other school, maintained the first year at Marysville, 21 pupils attending.

B.E. Hunt and Miss Elizabeth E. Choche, who were granted teachers certificates December 16, 1864, have the distinction of being the first to preside over Grant county school rooms, Mr. Hunt teaching at Canyon City and Miss Choche at Marysville.

The following is a list of the principal textbooks used: McDuffy's series of readers; Thompson, Ray & Colburn's arithmetic; Smith's grammar; Webster's speller and dictionary; Monteith's geography; Cornell's geography; Cornell's outline maps; Sander's Primer; Davies' arithmetic; Sanders' Spellers, and Willard's History of the United States.

In his first annual report to the state superintendent, Mr. Rinehart says regarding school funds: "Our school fund, as your honor may perceive, is very limited, not being sufficient to support one fashionable pedant for a term of three months in this isolated and expensive section. Canyon City very wisely made an effort to levy a tax for school purposes, but the meeting was annoyed so much by the rabble that it was found impossible even to organize, and consequently adjourned, and died. In consideration of the great necessity of upholding our common schools, and our boundant duty to the rising generation we respectfully submit the following suggestion: An amendment to the section 7 of the --- relating to common schools sub ---- 5 mills on the dollar, ---- half of one per cent instead of 2 mills on a dollar as it now stands. Our object in offering the above suggestion is for the increase of school funds without resorting into district tax, which is next to impossible in a mining community. Merchants and miners are almost unanimously opposed to this tax, and will vote it down whenever occasion offers. We hold that it is more essential, financially and morally, to tax the people for the support of the common schools than it is for the support of state prisons and jails."

The advancement of the common schools was indeed slow on account of the scarcity of funds and the dangers incident to the country by reason of marauding bands of Indians and although many districts were added, the real conditions did not commence to materially improve until the early '80s. A letter written to Hon. L.J. Powell, state superintendent of public instruction, by J.W. Mack, superintendent of county schools in 1878, says: "It is a matter of regret that the county has made such a poor showing in educational matters for the past year. Some of our districts were partially or wholly burned out by Indians, and the people are in such a state of expectation and trepidation that nearly all schools are broken up. In Harney valley every dwelling and school house was burned to the ground. In Blitzen district Happy Valley, every house but the school house was destroyed. Other districts suffered but not so severely. For months nearly all the families in the county were huddled together in forts, submitting to many inconveniences and neglect of crops, stock and school in the struggle for self preservation. If the excitement cooled down so that some of the bolder went home, fresh news of approaching hostilities would send them crowding back again, and in Canyon City, the county seat, nearly, if not all, the families spent their nights in the tunnels for some time and occasionally went for them in a rush during the day. Many of the districts are newly organized and have yet no schools. In consideration of all the circumstances and the scattered condition of our people, the excitement and suffering of the past year, I am astonished that the schools have done as well as they have. If the "noble red men" will behave themselves during the coming summer and let his white brother repose in peace, this county will make a much better report the coming year."

Thus briefly have I spoken of the earliest events which have gone to the first settlement and organization of this our home county of the great state of Oregon.

In the late 1920s The Blue Mountain Eagles carried a column of "It Happened When" which covered part of the 1880s period. The following was taken from these articles:
